Threshing in the Orient

INTRODUCTION

* * * *

As compared with the issue of last year, this number of the Year Book is late in appearing. We regret the delay and any possible inconvenience it may have caused, but we recognize that there is also some compensation in the fact that we are able to insert corrections that would have gone over if we had gotten out the issue earlier. Our readers by this delay are getting the latest possible for us to get into the shape of an annual.

We are grateful for the help that has been given us in getting the information needed in order to prepare this booklet, for without the help of our readers the publication would be of little value.

But with all our care, there are sure to be mistakes. There will be changes, there will be ordinations, there will be deaths, and these may escape our notice.

Did it ever occur to you that the necessity of changes in our publications, especially in the Year Book, is an evidence of growth? If no changes were necessary, there certainly would be stagnation, and stagnation means decay. We are grateful that we can see evidences of normal growth along many lines.

The Year Book is valuable in direct proportion to its accuracy. In order that it may be accurate, our friends must needs co-operate in its preparation. Let us again kindly urge that you consider yourself appointed as a committee of one to notify the publishers of this Year Book of any mistakes you find in its tabular matter. It will cost you one cent for a postal card and a few minutes of your time to carry out your responsibility on this committee, but it will bring marvels of satisfaction in a knowledge that you did a faithful service. What if some one else did say the same thing? Better have it said a dozen times in the patient ears of the editor (he will repeat it only at the proper place), than not to have the mistake pointed out at all.

We hope also that the reading pages will be found helpful. We had hoped to give a few more historical sketches this year, but the persons who had been asked to contribute them declined to be thus used. If we are spared to another issue, we may do better.

May God use this little volume to His own glory, is our hope and prayer.

THE YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

Benevolent Institutions

Since our last Report, in fact a few weeks after that Report was off the press, one of the Institutions that was said to be in a prosperous condition was reduced to ashes and rubbish so far as the building is concerned.

On Saturday night, January 4, 1919, or early Sunday morning, the Old People's Home near Marshallville, Ohio, burned to the ground. The cause of the fire was evidently a defective flue. Natural gas had been used as the fuel for heating the building, when the institution received notice to make prompt arrangements for other fuel. The change was made to coal, and the first night the fire was changed the building was destroyed, as stated. All the inmates escaped with their lives, but many of them lost a good deal of their personal belongings.

The refugees were cared for in the surrounding homes for the time being and later some of them were taken to the Eastern Mennonite Home at Souderton, Pa., while others found shelter in other places.

Plans for rebuilding the Home are not complete at this writing.

The Orphans' Home at West Liberty, Ohio, is still "doing business at the old stand." No very important changes have taken place during the year. Bro. J. A. Hilty is the present superintendent and most of the old workers are at their posts, faithfully witnessing and conscientiously caring for the young souls that come into their sphere of influence.

Bro. T. E. Moyer continues his work as superintendent of the Mennonite Home along the Harrisburg Pike, not far from Lancaster, Pa. Tho age is telling on most of the inmates of the Home, it is a happy family that has this institution as its abode.

The Mennonite Sanitarium at La Junta, Colorado, has demonstrated its reason for existence over and over again. Recently there has been a good deal of sentiment in favor of a hospital under Mennonite control. Partly as an experiment, and with full faith on the part of those most interested in its practicability, a hospital has been taken over in the city of La Junta for a limited time. We hope that the institution or a similar one in some other place, may prove a means of blessing to many. Bro. Allen H. Erb continues as superintendent of the Sanitarium.

Bro. Daniel L. Gehman is now superintendent of the Eastern Mennonite Home at Souderton, Pa., and the Home is in a prosperous condition. Like the Home at Lancaster, the institution is not strictly a charitable home, since many people of means go there because of the quiet, restful atmosphere, and the Christian spirit that prevails. People without means of support are received in both institutions, but the number of persons of independent means is sufficient in both Homes to give a decided setting of "home-like-ness" to the institution.

The latest of our charitable institutions is the Children's Home of Kansas City, Kansas. The work was begun in 1917, but has lately taken definite shape as a permanent organization and bids fair to rank as one of the most important institutions of the Church.

City Missions

Having duly apologized for placing the Welsh Mountain Industrial Mission among the city missions last year, we shall continue this classification at least for another year. The institution still flourishes and there have been no important changes in the plans or policy of the work. While there is still sin in abundance on the mountain, the Mission supplies a source of light and witness for the Master that was sadly lacking before this institution came into being.

The number of missions in Chicago remains the same. The new building for the Home Mission was dedicated in the early part of 1919. Bro. A. M. Eash of the 26th Street Mission is at present on a furlough from his home station but on a very much enlarged mission in another direction—helping the Near East Relief in the Orphanage near Jerusalem, Palestine.

The Canton, Ohio, Mission has undegrone deep clouds of sorrow since our last issue of this volume. Brother and Sister C. K. Brenneman were both called away from the scene of their labors by the messenger of death. Their testimony on earth is finished, only to take up the higher ministry in the world beyond. Brother and Sister N. E. Troyer, formerly of West Liberty, Ohio, are now in charge of the work at Canton.

At the Altoona, Pa., Mission there has also been a change in workers. Brother and Sister Jacob E. Martin were compelled to leave the work on account of the illness of their little boy and Brother and Sister Joseph M. Nissley, formerly of the Old People's Home at Marshallville, O., are now in charge of the work at Altoona.

Mennonite Gospel Mission in Toronto is still in the Master's business and reports from there are encouraging. Bro. S. M. Kanagy is the superintendent and his good wife (who used to be Sister Elizabeth Brown in days gone by) is a genuine help meet for him.

Mennonite Home Mission in Philadelphia has long been a center of witness for the Master and a church home for many who are within reach of the city. This mission is unique in this that it has not had from the beginning in 1899 a resident minister, but has been supplied from outside the city.

At Ft. Wayne, Indiana, is located a mission that is rapidly taking on the full elements of an independent congregation. Some of the features of the city mission are still maintained, but it is found that it is not necessary to carry so large a force of workers as at some of the other places owing to the fact that many of the members are active Christians and take the place of workers in mission work and in the Sunday school. The work was started in 1903 and Bro. Ben B. King has long been the superintendent of the mission.

In Kansas City, Kansas, is another unique place so far as the mission work is concerned. Two flourishing missions are maintained by practically one set of workers. It keeps the time of the workers fully occupied to carry on the work in this way, and it is possible that these conditions are not exactly what the workers themselves would choose if they had unlimited resources in workers and means at their disposal, but they are bravely trying to make the best of the situation, and the Lord is richly blessing the work.

The Youngstown, Ohio, Mennonite Gospel Mission is not making a big display but is faithfully plodding on and fulfilling its mission in testifying of the saving grace of Jesus Christ.

Lancaster, Pa., Mennonite Mission, Lima, O., Mennonite Mission, Knoxville, Tenn., Mission, and the West Virginia Mission at Job, W. Va., deserve special mention. The latest available information regarding them is found on our tabular pages.

Foreign Missions

Two foreign missions have so far been definitely established by the Mennonite Church and represented by the publishing interests back of this publication. The American Mennonite Mission in India was established at Dhamtari, Central Provinces, India, in 1899. Owing to a combination of causes the number of workers at present is painfully small—only nine on the field—and the work to be looked after is more than four times what it was a few years ago when we had several more workers. War conditions have had something to do with the holding back of workers from the field, and some of the workers have been compelled to leave the work, at least for a time, on account of ill health. Volunteers have been ready to go for some time, and are only waiting until the proper credentials can be secured from the British authorities in India.

The mission in Argentina, South America, has taken definite shape and a committee consisting of Brethren S. C. Yoder of Kalona, Iowa, and S. H. Musselman of New Holland, Pennsylvania, is at this writing working with the missionaries in securing a permanent location for the new mission. There have been applicants for membership in the Church as a result of the work thus far done. We await with much interest the report of the committee that has gone to help establish the work.

Relief Work

In connection with and under the management of the Friends' Service Committee about fifty Mennonite young men were engaged in relief work in France during the past year. Eternity alone will reveal what good has been done by this effort. Brethren S. E. Allgyer and Vernon Smucker were sent out by the Church at home to visit the brethren in France and report on their work. Their report is contained in the report of the General Conference at Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Thirteen young men were sent out during the year to work in the Near East Relief and their activities were scattered over a large part of Syria and the southern part of Armenia. Others are preparing to go into the same work as soon as arrangements can be made for their voyage.

EARLY SETTLEMENT OF MENNONITES IN VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA!—the name coined by the English colonists at Jamestown in 1607 for their newly adopted country, in honor of their lately deceased queen, Elizabeth Tudor of England.

This newly coined name also comes ringing down thru nearly ten generations as being given to the first white child,—Virginia Dare, born on the American continent;—and as the name of a sovereign state; has long ago proven to be the most pregnant of all in historical interest. As a state she ranks first in the order of permanent settlement and retains for herself the lasting prestige of being the mother of states and statesmen; no less than eight presidents of the United States — Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, W. H. Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, and Wilson,— claim her for nativity; while out of her princely domain which she originally held as her own, has been carved the territory for the eight states of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and West Virginia—all of which, with one or two exceptions, have within their boundaries their numerous settlements of Mennonite people.

The mother state, with her sunny southern climate, her clear blue canopy overhead and greatly diversified landscape underneath, has long since gained for her the cognomen of "The Old Dominion Home" and "The Auld Lang Syne" to hundreds, aye thousands of Mennonite people who have gone from her borders, who aside from their religious ministrations in their new found homes, have learned also to sing with a pathos hitherto unknown—

"Carry me back, O, carry me back! to Old Virginia once more."

It can be stated with some degree of assurance that the first people of German extraction to find homes in the state of Virginia, were located east of the Blue Ridge on the head waters of the Rappahannock river in what are now Fauquier and Culpepper counties. These are said to have come directly from the vineyard districts of the Palatinate, and along with their other qualities of industry and thrift, they established the first vineyard plantations in the state.

By an old French map said to be in possession of Dr. Julius F. Sachse of Philadelphia, this settlement is designated at as early a date as 1687 as "Teutsche Staat." The historical fact is established that Dr. John Kelpius, a religious leader at the time having his home near Philadelphia, on Oct. 10, 1704, wrote a long letter to Maria Elizabeth Gerber in German, who was then living in Virginia, and who to all events, was a resident of "Teutsche Staat."

Before this it is not known that white men had ventured to locate permanently at any point west of the Blue Ridge mountains. It was not until the year 1716 that Gov. Alexander Spottswood accompanied by a number of Virginia cavaliers, penetrated this mountain region by way of the South Fork of the Rappahannock river, and passing over the rugged heights, found their way down the western side till they reached the Shenandoah river at a point opposite the mouth of Rockfish Gap. To the stream they gave the name of Euphrates and the Governor wrote out on a paper his declaration claiming all the new lands discovered in the name of his sovereign, King George I of England. This document was secured in a tightly sealed bottle and carefully buried in the sand by the riverside. The reputed location of this transaction is near Elkton in Rockingham county, and, within the two hundred years that have passed, the eager search of the historian has so far failed to locate this seemingly precious record.

Prior to this date it is not definitely known how many, if any of the German residents of "Teusche Staat" were Mennonites, but by the year 1727, a number of Mennonite families had crossed the Blue Ridge by way of the Spottswood route and formed the Massanutten settlement on the west side of the Shenandoah river in what is now Page county. The County Records at Staunton, Va., show that the estate of Martin Kauffman, a member of this colony was probated in 1749.

To the present generation it is of interest to know what were the equipments of the average Mennonite home at that early period. The following is a partial list of items appearing on the records.—

4 Bibles.
2 Testaments.
8 Hymn and Psalm Books.
10 Small Books called "Golden Apples."
Sundry other small Books.
1 House Clock valued at $16.66.
10 Stacks of Bees.
1 Wagon.
Much live stock, tools, and implements.
Very little household furniture.
Total value of property, $777.90.

The first Mennonite ministers of this early colony were Michael Kauffman, Jacob Strickler and Hans Rood. In later years Michael Kauffman located in the Linville Creek section near Edom in Rockingham county, and the headstone at his grave in the Lindale cemetery shows that he was born June 21, 1714 and died Dec. 21, 1788.

Local records show that this early Mennonite settlement suffered severely from Indian outbreaks. In August, 1766, Hans Rood (John Rhodes) together with nearly all his family were killed and their bodies consumed in the burning buildings of their home.

With the organization of Rockingham county in 1778 and the establishment of a county-seat at Harrisonburg, the Mennonites in Virginia assembled into two permanent groups, the one in the Linville and Cook's Creek valleys in Rockingham county, and the other about the head waters of the Shenandoah river in Augusta county.

From these small beginnings, in which the Virginia Mennonites for 150 years struggled against tremendous odds, have sprung the flourishing congregations at Trissels, Zion, Lindale, Weavers, Bank, Mt. Clinton, Hildebrands and Springdale, with later extensions of the fold eastward across the Blue Ridge to Orange, Halifax, Warwick and Norfolk counties, and westward across the state borders to Pendleton, Hardy, Randolph and Tucker counties in West Virginia.

EARLY MENNONITE SETTLERS IN CANADA

I. A. Wambold

The first permanent settlement in Canada was in Lincoln county, Ontario, at "The Twenty," so called because the settlers located near the Twenty Mile Creek, which runs parallel to the Niagara River and about twenty miles west of it. At the time of the Mennonite settlement it was near the Indian frontier.

The close of the Revolutionary War brought a large increase of population into Canada. Many of the Americans remained loyal to England during the struggle for independence, and when the war was over, these people were looked upon with dislike and suspicion by their republican neighbors. So harsh was the treatment they received that the British Parliament took pity on them and voted them a large sum of money in consideration of the losses they had sustained by remaining loyal to the British Crown. Besides this grant of money, they were given large and valuable tracts of land. It is said that over 25,000 left the United States in 1784 and settled in British colonies, and of these some 10,000 settled in Canada, many settling in the "Niagara District" (The Twenty). The soldiers of the famous corps known as the Buttler Rangers had at the close of the 18th century extensive holdings at this place. But these were not all actual settlers. Possibly their long military service had bred in them a dislike for toil and the hardships of pioneer life. This made it easy for real settlers who immigrated to this part of Canada to buy land cheap.

It is said that as early as 1786 John Dilman, Jacob and Stoessel Kolb, Franklin Albrecht, and Frederick Hahn (Mennonites) left their homes in Bucks county, Pennsylvania, in search of homes beyond the Lakes. In the year 1799 a prospecting party of "Pennsylvania Dutch" visited the district. They could buy land along the "Indian Trail," now the Stone Road," for $1.50 per acre. The year following a large number of Mennonites followed this party. The names of Allbright, Kratz, High, Moyer, Honsberger, Grubb, Gross, Houser, Wismer, Fry, Fretz, Nash, and others which are still found among the people of this region, are prominent. They began at once to clear the land and build houses. They did not only look to the material things of life, but were also concerned about the spiritual life. As there was no minister among them, steps were taken to have this need supplied. Valentine Kratz was the first upon whom the responsible duty fell. He was ordained to the ministry in 1801. The next year Jacob Moyer was called to this office also, and ordained bishop in 1807—the first Mennonite bishop in Canada.

The first Mennonite settlers in Waterloo county were Samuel Betzner and Joseph Scherch. They came from Franklin county, Pennsylvania, and settled a few miles west of the present town of Preston, on the banks of the Grand River, where at the present time one of the granddaughters of Bro. Scherch, Betty Scherck Gingerich and her son Enoch Gingerich and family reside. David Scherk, father of Betty Scherk Gingerich, was the first "white" child born in this county. When grown to manhood, he united with the Mennonite Church, and in the prime of life was ordained to the ministry. He exerted a great influence for good over the Church in his time.

In 1802 Joseph Bechtel came from Montgomery county, Pennsylvania, and settled in the same vicinity. He was ordained to the ministry before he left Pennsylvania. He was the first Mennonite minister in Waterloo county. This colony was strengthened by other settlers from Bucks, Montgomery, Dauphin, and Lancaster counties. Among them were Ebys, Brickers, Schniders, Erbs, Baumans, Webers, Brubakers, Shantzes, and other names that are familiar in this region to this day.

Benjamin Eby was the first Mennonite bishop in Waterloo county. He was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, May 2, 1785, was baptized in 1804, ordained to the ministry in 1809, and ordained bishop in 1812. He had settled on a farm on which a part of the city of Kitchener is built. The first Mennonite church was built in 1813 on the farm of Bishop Benjamin Eby. The house was constructed of logs and was used for both church and school purposes. This building was replaced by an other structure in 1834, and in 1902 the large brick church which now stands was erected.

Bishop Benjamin Eby was a man of excellent character, positive in his convictions, mild, but firm in discipline, hospitable, and a tireless worker. He was a minister of more than ordinary ability. He died June 28, 1853.

The migration of Mennonites to Markham township, York county, began in 1803 and continued until 1826 and possibly later. Some of the names that were associated with this colonization are: Wideman, Grove, Reesor, Hoover, Nighswander, Lehman, Burkholder, Bronsberger, Ramer, Barkey, and others.

Henry Wideman was the first minister at this place. He came from Sporting Hill, Pennsylvania, and settled on the eighth concession of Markham township, across the road from the present Wideman Church. He was killed by the falling of a tree while helping to hew out the road on the eighth line. He was succeeded by his son Adam in the ministry. His son Jacob was ordained later to this office.

In 1804 the Reesors came to this place also, and with others they bought a large tract of land, some of which still remains in the hands of people of this name. The Reesor family was well represented in the ministry. John E. Reesor was born 1806, was ordained in 1836, and died in 1864. Bishop Christian Reesor was born in 1833, was in the ministry fifty years and died an octogenarian.

The Grove (Groff) family came to Markham from Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, in 1808 and settled in the northern part of the Markham colony. Abraham Grove was the father of the family and was also the first bishop in York county. It is said that when he was about to leave Pennsylvania, and when it was known that there was no bishop in the church where he was locating, he was ordained bishop in his former home that he might take the oversight of the work in his new field. Jacob Grove succeeded his father in the same office.

The Hoovers came about the same time. Daniel Hoover bought a farm from Henry Wideman in 1808, which has been in the same family ever since. Preacher Leonard W. Hoover, a great-grandson, and his family live on this farm. Samuel R. Hoover, a grandson of Daniel Hoover, was ordained to the ministry in 1888 and died in 1916. Samuel Hoover Sr., was in the ministry a long time and died in 1893. He was a man of ability and influence. Daniel Burkholder, Grandfather of L. J. Burkholder, one of the present ministers of this place, came to Markham from Franklin county, Pennsylvania, in 1822. He exchanged his horse and saddle with which he made the trip for a hundred-acre farm and walked back to Chambersburg. His father Jacob and other members of the family came a few years later.

The Barkeys came to Canada in 1806. The home from which they came in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, is now covered by a reservoir which partly supplies the city of Johnstown.

Other names that were associated with the Markham colony in the early days are: Abram Ramer and his wife Fanny, Peter Ramer, Daniel and Susanna Lehman, Francis Pike, Jacob Smith and his father John.

The hardships of the pioneer life endured by these early settlers were those too common to this kind of existence. But they were borne gladly in order that these hardy settlers and their descendants might have the priceless boon of "freedom to worship God."

EDUCATION IN THE MENNONITE CHURCH

D. H. Bender.

History bears out the fact that the Mennonite people have always stood out prominently against ignorance. They insisted that their children be informed, and well informed, on all points considered vital to a useful life. Especially was this true with regard to knowledge of the Bible and the evangelical doctrines of the Church. Among the very first Mennonites who came to this country we find well informed men, even educators who ranked with and in some cases higher than the ordinary educators of their day. Christopher Dock was not only a successful teacher in the Germantown colony, but he was also a writer on educational subjects. In fact, he was the author of one of the first, and in the opinion of those who should know, one of the best books on the theory and practice of teaching published in America. He also wrote a very practical and thoro treatise on etiquette, called "One Hundred Rules of Conduct," teaching children, and older people as well, a standard of manners that is hard to improve upon. It is to be noted with feeling that he died at his desk while on his knees in prayer at the close of his day's duties in the school room.

Were we to go back to the Old Country we would find among the founders of the Church men renowned in the realms of education and among the advocates of pure intellectual knowledge and Christian training. Among these stalwarts of education we might mention Menno Simons, who was an educated ex-Catholic priest, Hans Denck, one of the most learned men of his time, Hubmeier, Mantz, Blaurock, Reublin, and others.

Along the line of religious education, adherents of the Mennonite faith were first in the field advocating and putting into practice the teaching of the children in the home, in the general assembly, in the community, and in the church. Forty years before Robert Raikes started his noted Sunday school movement in England, the Mennonites were maintaining a school of a similar nature near Harrisburg, Pa. On week days the children received instruction in the secular branches and on Sunday in the Word of God.

This spirit of insisting on their children being instructed and on counteracting the ignorance that is in the world, has come down to their posterity as a heritage from our Mennonite fathers. It is still alive in the Church. Had the standard of education remained true to the teachings of the Word of God, there is no reason why the Mennonite people would not have been the leaders of what is usually termed "higher education" at the present time. But when the tendency of higher education became decidedly antagonistic to the Word of God; when educators taught, wrote, and preached that the Bible was not infallible; that it was no more than a mere human book; that it was gathered "out of a great mass of literature" by a number of men left to their own judgment, and that in this selection they made just as many mistakes as men of literature did under any other circumstances; that the Book of God was full of errors and in contradiction to the teachings of history, science, economics, and many other subjects taught in these schools of higher education, it was then that the Mennonite Church took the "narrow way" at the parting of the roads and no longer followed the world leaders in the path of so-called higher education, but took a position unfavorable and sometimes decidedly antagonistic to the tendency toward advanced education.

Another reason why the Mennonite Church has not sanctioned higher education generally is because many of her young people after having pursued these courses became arrogant, insubordinate, and disrespectful to their elders and church leaders, who, because they did not possess the same degree of educational training, they said, could not require or expect such a degree of submission and respect from them, who knew more. Thus the usefulness of many who remained with the Church after their education had been completed (?) was of very little if any service to the Church, while many others left the mother Church for the more popular organizations. Many fathers and mothers have mourned because after having made the sacrifices necessary to educate their children, then found them lost to the Church they so much loved.

About two decades ago it became apparent that in order to save our young people, both from this erroneous teaching, and for the Church, that the Church must conduct schools of her own in which to train our young people for service amid influences and under teachers and leaders conducive to a development of body, mind, and heart that would safeguard them against the errors found in many of the schools of the land. The movement met no ready response thruout the Church generally, but at this time there are three schools conducted by organizations in the Church. Goshen College and Hesston College and Bible School are controlled by the Mennonite Board of Education, while the Eastern Mennonite School is controlled by an independent corporation but closely allied to the church educational board. The first two institutions mentioned are offering work from the first year high school to the completion of a four years' college course, leading to the degree of bachelor of arts. The Eastern Mennonite School is of much later organization but is enjoying a normal growth.

In each one of these three schools the Bible is made a prominent feature. In this lies both danger and safety. The danger lies in the possible temptation to follow in the ordinary trend of higher education in not giving the Bible the full recognition it deserves, but to treat it, not as the infallible, inerrant, divine Word of God, but as a book to be studied and criticised and questioned and treated as any other text book. The safety and helpfulness and usefulness of recognizing the study of the Bible as a prominent course in our church schools is found only in accepting the statements, teachings, and positions taken by the Bible on all subjects on which it speaks, as absolute and inerrant. Such a position or attitude does not preclude a free, open, and full discussion of the contents and teachings of the Bible; but it must be approached, not with doubt, not without faith, not with the attitude to accept only such portions and such teachings as we can reason out with our finite minds; but recognizing God as the Author and realizing the impossibility of the finite mind to grasp the infinite, yet knowing that God gave us in His Word only truth, and such truth as will tend to our own good, if accepted and obeyed, then no amount of discussion on subjects found in the Bible can be harmful, but helpful.

Should the schools of the Church not subscribe to the standards of the Bible and take the stand that the doctrines of the Church are to be given a place of prominence and definitely advocated, in fact, championed, as they should be in the institutions where sentiment is molded and life standards set up, then it were better that our young people would hear this adverse teaching, relative to the Word of God and the doctrines of the Church, if hear it they must, from other than Mennonites and in institutions not ostensibly of and for the Church.

The subject of education is vitally and no doubt permanently before the Church. Upon the manner and in the spirit in which this important subject is developed and propagated depends largely the weal and the woe of the Church. May all who realize this solemn fact and are in any way responsible, be true to this sacred trust, then may we confidently look forward to the successful solution of the problem of education in the Mennonite Church.

MISSIONARY PROPAGANDA OF THE MENNONITE CHURCH OF AMERICA IN THE PAST

C. Z. Yoder

Organized efforts for active mission work began in 1893, when the first mission station was established in Chicago. But we understand that the foundation for missionary activity was laid many years before. While our ancestors in Europe were sorely oppressed and persecuted because of their implicit faith in God and His Word and became willing to leave home and friends and their earthly possessions, and cross the briny deep to enter into a strange land among strange people to face hardships and danger, seen and unseen, for the sake of religious freedom, we can realize that they made greater sacrifice by far than we are making now in our efforts to extend the borders of Christ's kingdom. And after they had settled in Eastern Pennsylvania, with their limited means, with poor facilities to obtain an education, with very slow methods of transportation, they would travel on foot and horse-back to organize churches and preach the Word where opportunity afforded, traveling thru dense forests, crossing threatening streams, and dangerous places, unknown to us in this age of prosperity, ease, and comfort; thus laying the foundation for more progressive work with the view of carrying out the great commission of Matt. 28:19, 20.

The Franconia District of Pennsylvania, the oldest conference of Mennonites of America, had its origin in the settlement of Germantown, Pa., in 1683. At an early date they manifested by their works that their prime object in coming to this country was not for an earthly gain. Their first public service was held in a private house without a minister. Five years later they had Wm. Rittenhouse as a minister. In 1701 steps were taken to organize a school. Requests were sent to Europe for a supply of Testaments, catechisms, and confessions of faith. A committee was appointed to translate the Martyrs' Mirror from the Dutch to the German language. In 1708 the first Mennonite church was built at Germantown, with a membership of 44. During the time of the Revolutionary War the faith of these brethren was severely tried, as also in all later wars in this country.

By request Bro. L. J. Heatwole has kindly furnished us with an interesting letter which, if space would permit would be profitable to publish in full. It is relative to the early missionary activities of the brethren in Virginia. Here as well as elsewhere, beginnings of great works were small. Here the preaching of the Gospel began in new places as the Mennonite ministers were called upon to preach funeral sermons for non-members, which they did free of charge. The calls from the rural districts and towns increased and became numerous, so that because of the distance, friends would postpone funerals for weeks and even months after the death of their loved ones.

This gave rise to the first missionary impulse among the brethren here as they saw the needs of these people who were without the Gospel. Between 1845 and 1852 Bishop Martin Burkholder and other ministers crossed the Shenandoah Mountains on such errands, preaching the Word as opportunity afforded, which resulted in gathering in several members in to the kingdom of Christ. These journeys across these mountains by these pioneer ministers required the elements of primitive adventure and Christian fortitude, which prompted them to sacrifice time and talents and the comforts of home to bring the Gospel to the people they never had known before. And while many yielded to the requirements of the Gospel in times of peace, in times of war some would weaken on the doctrine of nonresistance and other Gospel principles, so that during the time of the Mexican and the Civil Wars the preaching of the plain Gospel was greatly hindered and the Church suffered much. Thus we can see the need of taking heed to the admonition of Paul: I Tim. 2:1-8.

Following the return of peace, Bishop Samuel Coffman and Pre. Christian Brunk were called a distance of 150 miles to preach a funeral sermon, and on their return they held meetings on the eastern slope of the Alleghany Mts., which resulted in receiving 25 members. In 1885 the first house of worship in these parts was built, later followed by others. In 1895, a district Mission Board was organized. Under its auspices mission stations are being established, churches have been built and the work is reaching into remote fields.

In the year 1895 the brethren in Lancaster Co., Pa., organized a Sunday School Mission Board, by which a number of mission Sunday schools were established. This organization developed into the Eastern Board of Missions and Charities. In 1898 the industrial mission at the Welsh Mt.

was established. Bro. Noah Mack and wife were the first workers appointed for this place. This mission and other city missions in Eastern Pennsylvania are under the control of this Eastern Board.

The oldest Board of the Mennonites of America of a general nature was the Evangelizing Board, organized in 1882. The Home Mission of Chicago and the American Mennonite Mission in India were established and supported by this Board during its existence.

In 1898, immediately after the General Conference held at the Holdeman Church, Elkhart Co., Ind., a meeting was held at the Mennonite Church in Elkhart, when the Spirit of God had moved upon the hearts of a number of brethren who urged that direct mission work should follow up the relief work that was done in famine-stricken India. An examining committee was appointed by the Evangelizing Board, who also called in a number of bishops to witness and to assist in selecting workers for the foreign field, when Bro. J. A. Ressler and Dr. Page and wife were appointed. They sailed from New York for India on Feb. 22, 1899, and landed in Bombay March 24, 1899. Dr. Page and family, on account of sickness, only remained 17 months and one day in India, and again returned to America.

In October, 1900, Bro. Jacob Burkhart and wife, Mary, arrived in India as missionaries, and later were followed by Bro. M. C. Lapp and others.

The Lord has been greatly blessing the work in India with workers and means to carry on His work. Hundreds of souls have gladly received the Word and were baptized and added to the Church; while it is also true that the workers had to pass thru trying times, many disappointments, and sad bereavements, which was undoubtedly a means of drawing them closer to God.

Our first city mission, established in Chicago in 1893, also had passed thru severe trials and for a lack of support in workers and means was closed a short time; but it again revived and has been the means of winning many souls into the kingdom of God.

In 1899 The Mennonite Board of Charitable Homes and Missions was organized, and in 1906 this with the Evangelizing Board was merged and is now known as the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities.

AT NIGHTFALL

Little 'twill matter at nightfall
The path that our feet have trod,
Whether 'twere rough and stony,
Or over the flower-gemmed sod;
If only we walked it bravely
And it led to the hills of God;
If only we walked so kindly
That others were helped on the road.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORT OF THE ELEVENTH MENNONITE GENERAL CONFERENCE HELD AT ASSEMBLY PARK, HARRISONBURG, VA., Aug. 27-29, 1919

Wednesday Morning

Bro. D. H. Bender preached the conference sermon. Text, Acts 20: 28. He said in part:

In this verse we have the whole plan of salvation, have the declaration that the Holy Ghost is the power thru which the work is to be done. We hope that these conditions may apply to us now, and that He will direct us in this conference.

In the text Paul showed the nature of his work. He knew that "bonds and afflictions abide" him. He knew that this was the last time that he would see them. He turns to the elders and says, "Take heed therefore." Notice also his prophecy concerning the future of the flock. Jesus sends us out as lambs among wolves. He tells us that he is coming again to inspect our work. We have laid down to us the nature of our work; also the fact that heresies are bound to come and grow more and more intense. This makes us look in three directions—backward, right around us, and forward. We need to look back so that we may see our mistakes and profit by them. We need to look around us and realize that all things are of God. This applies to us directly as a Church, to every member. We should recognize the fact that God directs the affairs of His Church thru every trial. This is a great comfort as well as a help. We need to look forward for He is coming again. This lends inspiration and power, and helps on to victory.

We must be born again and live in Him. We need to exalt Christ. We should learn to recognize the awfulness of sin and the means by which we get from under that curse. Unless the individual realizes his lost condition, realizes the benefits of the atonement as applied to his own soul, realizes Christ's power to lead and help he is still outside of the kingdom. We need to make this known. Trials are coming. We are in the midst of them now and we should awake to the fact. We know that every effort to find a middle ground or compromise for us in carrying out the matters of state have failed. We need to let the world govern itself and abide by the results.

We can not analyze every thing by human intelligence. World education suggests not to accept that which we can not understand, but when we examine God's work and Word we find many things which we do not understand but which we must accept by faith. The educational problem is a real one before the Church today. It touches every avenue of the Church. What can we hope for with all the false teachings in the land? The Church needs to come along and lay down the standards for our own schools. A few individuals can do very little. Attached to this is the literature of the Church. It needs our helpful, prayerful support. This is very important.

Six brethren, previously selected, gave short testimony to the sermon and added some very good thoughts.

Minutes of the last conference were read and approved. Decided that 4000 of the present conference minutes be printed in pamphlet form to be distributed from the Publishing House on a prorata of membership.

Decided that all the former conference minutes be re-printed in pamphlet form, 2000 of each conference, uniform in size. These to be so arranged that they can be bound in suitable covers, and coming conferences can be inserted in the same covers. Brethren, S. F. Coffman, J. S. Hartzler, and Aaron Loucks were appointed a committee to see that it is done.

Report of the treasurer was as follows: In accordance with the decision of last General Conference, Bro. Aaron Good was chosen, who with the treasurer was to constitute the Budget Committee, but because of the funds on hand it was not considered necessary to make out a budget.

Collection at last General Conference	$392.72
Rec'd from Sugar Creek Budget	14.00
Rec'd from Men. Pub. House	70.00
Total collections	$476.72
Traveling expenses	$252.37
Printing and postage	91.95
Total disbursements	$344.32
Balance on hand	$132.40

Report accepted.

Decided that the budget committee shall consist of three members, the treasurer and two others appointed by the moderator. The members appointed are, Brethren A. C. Good and B. B. King.

Resolved, That the budget committee be instructed to devise ways and means of meeting General Conference expenses and report at the next meeting of General Conference.

Y. P. B. M. Topic Committee report was read by Bro. H. F. Reist. The report was accepted.

Our brethren in relief work in the Near East sent the following cablegram:

Mennonite General Conference, Harrisonburg, Va. Mennonites in near East extend greetings to General Conference. Philippians 2:5-8 our wish for meetings. Appreciate all interest and help home Church has given to this work. We count on Church to continue liberal support with prayers, money and workers. Orphans gathered thru American agencies present large opportunities to Christian Churches in America; Mark 9:37. Our prayer is that the work in France and here be stepping stones to much larger effort by the Church in fulfilling Christ's last commission. Boys in Syria and Armenia, per Orie Miller.

Our brethren in France sent a resolution to the conference which had been passed in one of their meetings. It is as follows:

We as young Mennonites engaged in relief and reconstruction work in Europe, being in conference assembled at Clermont en-Argonne, France, remember the grave circumstances in which we found ourselves during the past several years of war time. We believe it to be our Christian duty to do what we may to avoid further and repeated encroachments upon the freedom of conscience both to ourselves and to our fellowmen.

Therefore, in view of the impending danger of the introduction of a system of universal military training in the United States, a measure which we believe to be threatening the free institutions which we have so long cherished, and dangerous to the principles of religious toleration for which America has been widely known, we take this occasion to urge in all earnestness that you individually and collectively assist us in all possible ways, by petition and protest, in opposing the enactment of such a measure, appealing to those who are responsible for the administration of our laws.

Conference of Mennonites in France in Relief.
Payson Miller,
Moderator.
Chauncy Kauffman,
Ralph Snavely,
June 30, 1919. Secretaries.

Conference passed the following:

Resolved, That we accept the greetings and communications sent to this conference by our brethren in France, Armenia, and Syria, and that the secretary be instructed to reply to the same, expressing our appreciation for the service they have rendered to the needy, and pray God's blessings upon them in the activities that the Church has assigned to them.

The moderator and secretary were asked to select and purchase a suitable book in which to keep the minutes of conference.

The afternoon session was closed with prayer by Bro. Andrew Shenk.

Wednesday Evening

Bro. J. N. Durr read Eph. 3 and led in prayer.

We then listened to a report from the Sunday School Committee.

Report was accepted.

Following this Bro. A. I. Yoder discussed the subject, "Our Young People and their Problems," and the remainder of the evening was devoted to this subject.

The Resolution Committee was asked to note a few of the leading points discussed, and presented the following:

Some of the problems confronting our young people are:

1. The acquiring of an education without becoming tainted with the liberalistic influences found in the present school world.

2. The development of social life without becoming infected with social evils.

3. Finding that place in life in which they will be of the greatest possible service to God and the Church.

4. Forming studious habits and at the same time be guarded against the influences of unsound doctrine and wrong ideals of life with which so much of the literature of modern times abounds.

To help our young people to grapple with and solve these and other problems confronting them, we recommend:—

1. That the greatest care and diligence be exercised in giving them scriptural and practical training in home and Church.

2. That parents especially, as well as pastors and teachers, take an active, sympathetic interest in helping them find their place in life.

3. That full opportunity be given and provisions made for their spiritual development in such activities as Young People's Meetings, Teacher Training Classes, Mission Study Classes, etc.

4. That adequate safeguards be thrown around in the matter of doctrinal teaching, proper associations, wholesome literature, active service, and firm, sympathetic discipline.

5. That prayerful effort be made to bring the Word of God to them in a way that will grip their hearts and bring about conviction and love for the truth.

These desired ends may be realized at least to some extent, thru prayerful and sympathetic co-operation between young people, parents, teachers, preachers, superintendents, and others responsible for the welfare of our young people.

Bro. Reist, the chairman of the S. S. Committee, with the Committee on Arrangements made nominations for the said S. S. Committee officers for the next two years: General S. S. Secretary, I. W. Royer; Treasurer, Abner G. Yoder; S. S. Editor, J. A. Ressler; Associate Editor, J. R. Shank. And as members on said committee to serve six years, Brethren, S. F. Coffman and J. D. Charles. All these nominees were elected by the Conference. Other members of committee, S. S. Yoder, V. J. Smucker, H. F. Reist, A. M. Eash.

Thursday Forenoon

The opening services were conducted by Bro. Enos B. Wismer who read Romans 12 and led in prayer.

Bro. C. D. Esch was asked to open the question of having a general hospital under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. Many advantages and some disadvantages were suggested. The moderator was instructed to appoint a committee of five brethren to make investigations and report at the next General Conference. Brethren, J. M. Kreider, J. D. Smith, A. H. Erb, M. C. Cressman, and E. C. Shank were appointed.

This was followed by a report of the Historical Committee.

The Peace Committee and the Committee on Christian Fundamentals presented their statements to Conference, and while the body approved of the thoughts in a general way, exceptions were taken to the wording of both, and both were asked to revise and present the revised work at a later session.

Bro. D. H. Bender opened the question of revising the Book of Bible Doctrines. Considerable discussion followed. Resolution Committee presented the following, which was adopted:

Our book on Bible Doctrine has met a real need in our Church and has been favorably received, However, there is a conviction favoring the revision of the same, making some changes and additions. Therefore, be it, Resolved, That we favor the revision of our Book on Bible Doctrines and that the moderators appoint a committee of five brethren to work jointly with the Executive Committee of the Mennonite Publication Board to effect the same.

It was decided to take a collection to be turned over to the local Finance Committee for expenses, any surplus to be given to the mission cause. Amount collected, $824.59.

The forenoon session was closed with prayer by Bro. John S. Mast.

Thursday Afternoon

Bro. Sanford Landis read Isaiah 12, and Bro. Amos Stoltzfus led in prayer.

Bro. J. S. Shoemaker read the report for the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. The report was accepted.

Because of the absence of the secretary of the Mennonite Board of Education, and no one else having the report, no report was submitted from that Board.

Bro. Levi Mumaw gave a full report of the Mennonite Publication Board and of the Publishing House. Report was accepted.

Bro. J. S. Shoemaker gave the following report of Workers' Manual Committee:

The committee was appointed eight years ago. The work assigned was divided into three parts. Two of these parts—The Sunday school and the Ministry, have already been issued. The third part—Missions—was partly in manuscript two years ago. In some unknown way the copy was lost. Bro. Detweiler has again prepared eight chapters of the proposed book, and the copy is now in the hands of the sub-committee. It is hoped that in a few months the complete Workers' Manual will be offered to the public. The report was accepted.

On motion the committee on Workers' Manual was retained. The committee is composed as follows:
J. S. Shoemaker, Dakota, Ill., Chairman.
S. S. Yoder, Middlebury, Ind.
J. W. Weaver, Union Grove, Pa.
I. R. Detweiler, Goshen, Ind.
J. H. Mosemann, Lancaster, Pa.
N. E. Byers, Bluffton, Ohio.
J. A. Ressler, Scottdale, Pa.
I. W. Royer, Orrville, Ohio.
E. S. Hallman, Guernsey, Sask.
S. G. Shetler, Johnstown, Pa.

The question, Under what conditions may questions be presented to General Conference? was discussed, and the following answer was adopted:

1. All questions, petitions, or requests submitted to the General Conference by our district conferences shall have a hearing before the open meeting of conference; provided that such questions, petitions or requests are not in conflict with any of the regulations of General Conference.

2. All questions submitted by individual members and Church organizations, other than our district conferences shall be submitted to the Committee on Arrangements, which body shall either submit them to General Conference or make such other disposition of them as said committee deems proper.

3. Whenever in the judgment of the Committee on Arrangements it seems wise to frame questions for public discussion that body shall have the power to do so.

Bro. J. S. Shoemaker led in the closing prayer of the afternoon session.

Thursday Evening

Bro. George R. Brunk gave some appropriate remarks on the subject of the evening before—Our Young People and Their Problems—dwelling largely on the causes of losing them to the Church.

Bro. Daniel Kauffman stated that the Dress Committee decided not to give a written report, but had asked that he explain the reports of the committee of two and six years ago. He did so, and later was asked by the conference to reduce his explanation to writing and have it printed in the Gospel Herald.

It was decided that a new Dress Committee be appointed and the old one excused. Brethren Daniel Kauffman, J. S. Gerig, Harry Diener, L. J. Burkholder, A. C. Good, and C. D. Yoder were appointed.

Friday Forenoon

Bro. J. S. Gerig read Isa. 12 and Bro. Andrew Shenk led in prayer.

The Music Committee reported as follows:

During the last few years the Music Committee has not undertaken extensive work. Two lines, however have been followed. Effort has been made to collect historic facts regarding the publication of Mennonite hymn books of the past and to obtain a list of the books which have been used by our people and as far as possible to secure a copy of the same. Facts gathered are to be spread upon the minutes of the committee.

In the second place the committee has been studying the needs of the Church along musical lines and has been observing the results coming from the use of books we now have.

Realizing the many blessings which have come from the singing of Gospel songs we wish to encourage more singing among us, and pray God's blessing upon every song leader in the Church.

Submitted by Committee,
C. Z. Yoder, Wooster, Ohio, Chairman.
S. R. Good, Sterling, Ill.
Ed. Miller, Pinto, Md.
J. D. Brunk, Goshen, Ind.
J. B. Smith, Harrisonburg, Va.
Walter E. Yoder, Metamora, Ill.

Recommendations adopted were:—

Resolved, that the Music Committee be instructed to seek consecrated brethren who are willing and able to sing and to teach the fundamentals of music, whose work it will be to serve such congregations as desire such assistance, and to promote the cause of sacred music wherever there is an opportunity to do so; also to keep the Church informed from time to time as to who is available for this work.

Since the Scriptures teach that the Church should speak in "psalms, hymns and spiritual songs," be it Resolved, that we recommend that the Music Committee with the Publishing Committee take steps in the compiling of a hymn book of Church standard. That such steps be reported for approval to subsequent General Conference.

The Music Committee was retained and instructed to work in accordance with the suggestions.

The Publishing Committee of the Publication Board presented the following recommendation:

The Publishing Committee report that they see a place for a book on Mennonites and war as brought out during the recent world war based on the manuscript now in preparation by J. S. Hartzler, and recommend that a committee of seven brethren be appointed to get out the book.

The recommendation was accepted by Conference and the following brethren were appointed: S. G. Shetler, Geo. R. Brunk, J. S. Hartzler, Vernon J. Smucker, Noah H. Mack, J. S. Shoemaker, and Daniel Kauffman.

Resolution adopted by the Mennonite Relief Commission for War Sufferers, Executive Committee, Aug. 8, 1919:

Whereas, the constitution of the Mennonite Relief Commission for War Sufferers has made provision for disbanding the organization as follows:

Art. XII. Duration of this Commission

"After the conditions which call for the organization of this Commission shall have ceased to exist, this organization shall be disbanded,

"We recommend that these provisions be carried out. According to present conditions it is hoped that its mission will have been fulfilled by the next annual meeting of the Commission and we therefore recommend that the matter of future action of this character be submitted to the coming General Conference to be held at Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 27-29."

Unanimously adopted.

Very sincerely yours,
Levi Mumaw, Secretary.

After some discussion the following was passed.

Seeing the possible need for the Commission for some time to come, be it,

Resolved, that we ask the Commission to remain in existence for at least two years more and report at the next General Conference.

The following brief report was submitted by the Military Committee:

The Committee appointed by the General Conference at Yellow Creek Church near Goshen, Ind., August 30, 1917, proceeded at once to Washington, D. C., and presented the petitions to Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War. The result of the investigation as well as the later work of the committee was printed in the Gospel Herald from time to time. For this reason we submit this brief report to General Conference.

Aaron Loucks,
S. G. Shetler,
D. D. Miller,
Committee.

The following brethren had been appointed by the Committee on Arrangements to draw up a statement of our position on peace: Aaron Loucks, L. J. Heatwole, S. C. Yoder, A. J. Steiner, J. K. Bixler, Oscar Burkholder, D. G. Lapp. The committee presented a statement which was discussed at some length, a few revisions made, and was adopted as follows:

OUR POSITION ON PEACE

An Expression of Gratitude

We, the Mennonites of United States, Canada, and India, in General Conference assembled near Harrisonburg, Va., August 27-29, 1919, express our gratitude to our Heavenly Father "who maketh wars to cease unto the ends of the earth," that peace has again returned to the warring nations with which we are identified, and that during the trying times of the past few years since we last met in session near Goshen, Ind., August 29, 30, 1917, He has kept us in His loving care and given us grace to preserve our testimony of peace to the world.

We further wish to express our sincere gratitude to those in authority who paused in the midst of pressing cares and duties to give ear to our appeals and by recognizing our petitions made it possible for us to engage in pursuits consistent with our faith.

A Statement of the Doctrine of Peace

As followers of Christ we believe His Gospel to be a Gospel of peace. "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you" (John 14:27). "But I say unto you, love your enemies, bless them that curse you; do good to them that hate you; and pray for them that despitefully use you, and persecute you, that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 5:44, 45). "If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men. Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good" (Rom. 12:18-21). And now that the nations have returned to the pursuits of peace we believe that our brethren should continue to apply the principles of peace and nonresistance to all their activities; in business, by seeking not their own but every man another's welfare; in dealing with those at variance with us, by rendering good for evil under all conditions; in the reconstruction of devastated lands and their rehabilitation and any constructive or relief measures helpful to man, by rendering assistance in men and money; in every walk of life manifesting the spirit of love and good will toward all men.

The experience of the past few years has brought about a change in the minds of many with reference to maintaining a large army and making military training compulsory and universal. This, according to our faith, would require of us service which, we believe, would involve the violation of a principle of the Gospel of Christ whose teachings we regard as our rule of life and conduct.

We are conscious of the consideration our government has given to those men who on account of their religious convictions and faith could not serve in the military establishment, and now in the event that military training and service become universal and compulsory, we humbly plead that such provisions be made in the law that we may be exempted from military training and service.

Recommendations of the Peace Committee to the General Conference

We recommend that this General Conference appoint a standing committee of five brethren whose duty it shall be to study any legislation of the nation, or its several states, that may come up for consideration which affects our faith who, in cooperation with the Executive Committee of the General Conference, shall take such steps as they deem necessary to give such information to the Church as may tend to preserve the unity of the faith, and to bring our position before any officials or representatives of Government for their consideration that we may continue to enjoy religious liberty as provided by the constitution of the United States.

Whereas this body, the Mennonite General Conference, has declared its position on peace and the proposed universal compulsory military training, and,

Whereas such statement may be of interest to the chief officials of our land, be it,

Resolved, That a copy of said statement, "Our Position on Peace," as passed by the said Mennonite General Conference in session near Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 27-29, 1919, be sent to the Honorable Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, and such other officials as may be deemed advisable.

The above statement was passed with all of its recommendations.

In accordance with the recommendation that a standing committee be appointed to look after the problems connected with this subject, the following were appointed:

Aaron Loucks, S. G. Shetler, D. D. Miller, L. O. King, and E. L. Frey.

The moderators also appointed the committee to revise the book, Bible Doctrine. They are: J. D. Charles, H. F. Reist, J. B. Smith, Noah H. Mack, and A. D. Wenger.

The Committee on Christian Fundamentals asked for more time to formulate their statement, hence on motion it was decided that they should complete their work, have it printed and send copies to the ministry for criticism and present a revised copy to the next General Conference.

The election of officers for the next conference from the nominations made by the nominating committee resulted as follows: S. C. Yoder, moderator; N. B. Stauffer, assistant moderator; N. E. Miller, assistant secretary; D. G. Lapp, treasurer. These with the secretary constitute the executive committee of the conference.

This conference was not so intense as the one two years before, (that was because of the issues then pending) but there seemed to be unity of spirit and purpose. Every one seemed to desire only that which would glorify God and build up the Church. Many comments and praises to God were heard referring to the unity of spirit and purpose that was so manifest thruout the meetings.

S. G. Shetler, Moderator.
J. S. Hartzler, Secretary.

REPORT OF TRIP TO FRANCE

It is impossible in the space allotted to us for this report to touch on more than a few of the most important points in connection with our visit and investigations.

We wish to gratefully acknowledge the very courteous and cordial treatment accorded us by the American Friends' Service Committee, which made it possible for us to go as your representatives, and to the Friends' War Victims Relief Committee in London and France. They everywhere seemed anxious for us to investigate the work to the fullest possible extent and every opportunity was put at our disposal toward this end. We were given the range of the field with transportation by railroad or automobile always at our free disposal, to go when and where we wished. We were invited to their executive meetings where the work is planned in detail and their whole attitude toward us was such as indicated a sincere desire to open every activity and method to our inspection.

One of the main objects of our visiting the field was to get in touch with the brethren who are representing our Church in France and to minister to their spiritual needs as well as to encourage them generally. We were privileged to spend four Sundays with them in religious services. The first Sunday our service was held in a beautiful spot in the Argonne forest where the trees, shell holes, and war material of various kinds bore mute testimony to the fierceness of the struggle which went on there only a few months ago. On the second Sunday of our stay in France we had an inspiring service in a little tent at the edge of the ruins of Aubreville. The next Saturday and Sunday we attended a conference of Mennonite relief workers in France, a report of which will be published soon. At this conference various subjects of vital interest to each Christian were discussed, and the following Sunday we held an inspiring communion service in the same little tent at Aubreville, where we reverently partook of the sacred emblems and observed the ordinance of feet-washing—privileges which on account of their camp experiences many of the brethren had not enjoyed for some time. Unfortunately not all of them could attend all of the meetings on account of distance, sickness, etc., but the great majority managed to attend some or all of them.

The Conference especially brought out a number of things worthy of note. The heads of the Mission very kindly made it possible for all the brethren (except two who were in hospitals) to attend all sessions, beginning with Friday evening and closing on Sunday evening. A deep spiritual atmosphere was evident thruout all the sessions and a seriousness of purpose well worthy of emulation by every one who calls himself a Christian. A number of the brethren thru their camp experiences have been put thru very severe tests and trials for their faith. They have come out stronger and better men for it, more eager to devote their lives to the service of the Master. They do not claim any special recognition for what they have done or for what they are now doing, minimizing their own experiences and pointing out that those in the home land have endured and are still enduring the same and other tests equally great. They have gained a vision of a needy world and a conviction that we are responsible for bringing the teachings of the Master in a practical way to satisfy those needs. It is the same vision that every true Christian must have. They may be unwise and impractical in some of their applications, and mistaken in some of their ideas. They themselves realize this and are anxious to work hand in hand with those of maturer judgment and wider experience. What an opportunity for all of us, old and young, to work together for one common cause and one common end, and what a pity if either young or old should be so unsympathetic and uncharitable as to be unable to see the good in the other! Let us not be caught in the snare of distrust and suspicion but let us work together for the glory of God.

The brethren are deeply appreciative of the support and encouragement which the Church at home is giving them. Especially do they appreciate the many greetings and expressions of good will which it was our privilege to bring them from many individuals and churches, and the fact that the Church at large was sufficiently interested to send us to France to visit them. They wish us to convey in return their sincere greetings and hearty good wishes to those who so kindly remembered them and to all who are interested in the work they are doing.

Our impression of the work as a whole is quite favorable. Its magnitude and the scale on which it is carried on we found to be quite beyond our expectations. Those who are directly responsible for carrying out the work seem to be men of fine Christian character combined with large business and executive ability. We believe that the money we are contributing is being used wisely and well and that our brethren are engaged in a worthy enterprise. There is a real need for the work they are doing and a real opportunity for Christian helpfulness and service. We could give many interesting facts to substantiate these statements if space permitted.

The brethren are showing a very commendable spirit toward the work which they are doing. They are working carefully, thoughtfully, and conscientiously, and have won an enviable reputation for themselves among the leaders and the other members of the Mission. They have established Sunday schools in several of the larger equipes which are much enjoyed by a number of the Quakers. On one Sunday morning as they were preparing to go to our own Sunday service one of the Quaker ladies said to us, "I don't know how we will get along with our Sunday school this morning if our Mennonite friends all leave us." We say these things not to flatter the brethren but to show that they are doing commendable work. They believe in the work they are doing and are doing it with a will and an enthusiasm which count for much.

Their opportunities are unique in a number of ways. Those out building in the smaller equipes get in direct touch with the French peaple whose appreciation of the Americans who do not believe in war but who came to help them regain their homes is often genuine and sincere. Likewise they are thrown in contact with a large number of German prisoners whose appreciation for the kindly words and treatment received at the hands of the Americans who do not believe in war is sometimes almost pathetic and gives opportunity for dropping much Gospel seed into receptive hearts. At places they also come in contact with Poles and Russians, tho language is more of a barrier here than with the French and Germans.

The work is not without its difficulties and hardships. There are many subtle temptations to be overcome. They are out of touch with the services of our own Church and the inspiration which comes from congregational worship of the kind to which we are accustomed, so that it is easy to become indifferent. They have not the privilege of associating with those of maturer judgments and greater experience and are apt to become one-sided and extreme in some of their views. They have in some cases been forced to live under physical discomforts, in houses not fit for habitation, or in old abandoned dugouts, until better quarters could be provided. Their food is plain and simple and often prepared under conditions which are far different from what they have been accustomed to at home. Yet they are cheerful, uncomplaining and patient. Many of them are willing, even eager to make larger sacrifices and go into the unopened fields of Germany or Russia if the opportunity offers itself.

They do not desire our sympathy but our co-operation; not our pity but our prayers. They regard their work as a privilege and not as a sacrifice. They are getting a new vision of the reality of the Gospel of Jesus Christ and its power in the hearts of men. They are dedicating their lives to the service of God and the Church. May we at home labor as earnestly and as zealously for the same cause and the same end.

We are thankful to the Church at large for your prayers in our behalf. We appreciate the interest you have shown in our work and hope that we may be able thru later articles and by personal visitation in various congregations to give you a fuller and better idea of various phases of the work which our brethren are doing. We will be glad to answer all questions we possibly can, especially those of parents who have sons in France. We crave a further interest in your prayers in this matter, and especially in behalf of the brethren in foreign lands far from home. May we hope too that you will continue to support them financially as well, not only in France but in all the grief and sin stricken countries of the world where help is needed.

In His name,
S. E. Allgyer,
Vernon Smucker.

THINGS TOLD BY THE CENSUS

The census for all religious bodies in the United States for 1916 was taken in the early part of 1917. The last previous census of religious bodies had been taken ten years earlier, and the one before that was in 1890.

Of all religious bodies, including Jews, Buddhists and all, there were reported 227,487 organizations (congregations) and 41,926,854 members. This means that nearly 60,000,000 of the people in the United States make no profession of religious belief at all. Making due allowance for children too young to have any views of their own on this very important subject, it still shows that about one half of the adult population of our "Christian" nation have no religious beliefs which seem to them important enough to profess.

The full report is very interesting to those who wish to study the religious denominations in the United States, as it gives not only a brief history of each denomination, but also a statement of the beliefs from the view-points of the various denominations themselves, and especially adapted for this work by an impartial expert, Dr. E. M. Bliss.

Seventeen branches claiming the name of Mennonite are reported. The numbers for 1916 are as follows:

	Members
Mennonite Church,	34,965
Hutterian Brethren,	982
Conservative Amish Mennonite Church,	1,066
Old Order Amish Mennonite Church,	7,665
Church of God in Christ (Mennonite)	1,125
Old Order Mennonite Church,	1,608
Reformed Mennonite Church,	1,281
General Conference of Mennonites of North America,	15,407
Defenseless Mennonites,	854
Mennonite Brethren in Christ,	4,737
Mennonite Brethren Church of North America,	5,127
Krimmer Brueder-Gemeinde,	894
Kleine Gemeinde	171
Central Conference of Mennonites,	2,101
Conference of the Defenseless Mennonites of North America,	1,171
Stauffer Mennonites,	209

These figures do not include Canada, where some of the different branches have quite a large number of members, and it is possible that the statistics for some of the denominations in the United States are not complete, since it seems impossible for even the Government to get full responses to its inquiries, but apparently the figures are as nearly correct as those of other classes of religious bodies.

A number of subdivisions of some of the branches were reported together, as, for instance, the three or more divisions of the Old Order Amish Mennonites and the two subdivisions of the Old Order of Wisler Mennonites. The distinction between these different classes is clear enough to those who know the whole history of the causes that led to the divisions, but such matters would be exceedingly difficult to explain to a person not familiar with the local circumstances. It is possible that it would be a good thing to make the effort to define some of these differences in plain English and see how small they really are. Perhaps it would help us to ignore them and recognize in each other an honest effort to serve our Lord and Master in the way He reveals to us, and work in more of a spirit of harmony.

It is gratifying that there is a growing spirit of tolerance that has been especially noticeable since the great war has brought its universal blight upon all people. By tolerance we do not mean that any essential tenet of the doctrine of Jesus Christ need in the least be compromised, but we do mean that within the area of the boundaries marked by faith in the fundamentals of Christianity, separation from the world, and obedience to the Word of Life, there should be the exercise of perfect liberty—for others as well as for ourselves.

In 1906 there was reported as a separate branch the "Amish Mennonite Church." This consisted of three district conferences, The Eastern A. M., from and including Ohio east; the Indiana-Michigan A. M.; the Western A. M., including all west of Indiana. A few years ago the Indiana-Michigan A. M. conference was merged with the Mennonite conference in the same district thus leaving only two "A. M." conferences, the Eastern and the Western. At the present writing active steps are being taken to bring about organic union all the way thru, where there is already a complete union in practice, principles, and doctrine.

A Ruined Temple in India

The Hutterian Brethren are a very interesting denomination. In principles they are practically one with Mennonites in general, with the exception that they live a communistic life. The enforcement of the conscription act bore heavily upon them and large numbers removed from South Dakota to Northwestern Canada. Statistics are not available at present as to how many of them are still in the United States, but the entire society, including several communities, would undoubtedly have removed to Canada, had not the Dominion Government, fearing trouble owing to the large influx of non-resistant people, put a stop to immigration of this class during the latter part of the war.

Notwithstanding every effort to get the statistics that were given correct in every particular, and to publish nothing that was not exactly right, at least one date is incorrectly stated — carried over, undoubtedly, from the 1906 report. The organization of the Mission at Dhamtari, India, is given as 1902, whereas it should be 1899.

On the whole, the Census Report is very interesting and valuable as a work of reference. It consists of 1321 pages quarto, bound in two volumes.

SELECTED HELP FOR MOTHERS

Much of the real strength of a people comes from a carefully lived home life. Much of the real help to an individual's home life is given by the intelligent careful mother.

After all is said about proper headship and good government, proper discipline, good education, and all the rest, the quiet, steady influence of good mothers will wield a wider and more potent influence over a wider field and more people than any other. We bring in this form a collection of helps gathered for the benefit of those who like to have them at hand and can use them.

A true mother leads a consecrated life. She will always be absolutely truthful and will keep every promise made to her child. She will recognize the good in all things and will never speak ill of anyone in her child's presence. She will keep away all thoughts of fear, and will awaken a spirit of loving service toward others and a growing belief in the Power which is within himself, until at last he grows into a recognition of the universal love and goodness which underlie the whole life.

Many a mother thinks the age between 3 and 4 much too early to lay the foundations of self-reliance in her children. She says: "My child is too young to learn yet. When he goes to school he will be taught to do everything and that is time enough." And so she waits upon him day and night, amuses him when he appears silent or lonesome, provides for his every want, and seldom asks him for a response of any kind. In fact, she absorbs his whole personality, impressing her own where his should have a chance to demonstrate itself.

Froebel said: "Our children must learn to do, by doing." Then what happiness, individuality and calm, deliberate deportment even at the early age of 4 they may possess, and what self-controlled, law-abiding citizens they may become if only mothers will try day by day to develop their self-reliance!

How shall this be done? Just teach your child to dress himself, to wash his hands and face, to lace his shoes, to comb his hair, to button his coat, to use his spoon, knife and fork. Commend his initial tugs and struggles and sooner or later those struggles will be converted into finished actions. And hands so trained at home will later in school life grasp scissors more firmly and handle crayon and pencil with a much finer precision.

Fill the child's day with little responsibilities: The care of a garden, of cat or dog, care of toys and care and proper place for clothes. Help him to anticipate your wants, and give him the joy of waiting upon you. Have him run little errands for your scissors, your needles, your thread. Let him care for baby brother or sister once in a while. There will be lots of time besides for play, and a greater value placed upon play time. Such duties to a child are not burdens, but a real delight, because they develop in him a sense of independence and helpfulness.

Have you ever learned as much in any other six years of your life as in the first six? Of the heavens above you and the earth about you? Of your own body and soul? Of elementary, social and economic relations? Of fundamental qualities of things? And of the activities of life? And in what other period have you made so many important beginnings in action and in bodily control and care?

Try to enumerate the knowledge gained and the beginnings made in these years.

If I had the power to do so I would wave my wand and say to all mothers, "Love what you have to do." Children's wants are so numerous and a mother has such constant demands made upon her that she needs to retire within herself often and, no matter how tired she may feel, repeat again and again, "I love what I have to do." Then suddenly she will feel better, and it becomes easier to go on with the task of caring for and training the children. It pays in dollars and cents, as well as in peace of mind and satisfaction of spirit, to devote much thought toward starting the children right.

What are some of the simple ways in which we can help our little ones? Let us begin the day happily, no matter how we feel, and never be discouraged nor allow the children to become so. Together, mothers and children can learn to be honest, obedient and faithful.

It should not be forgotten that all virtues thrive best in a healthy body. Therefore, give the child plenty of fresh air, have him sleep in a well-ventilated room, wear clean, whole clothes, and eat simple food.

If boys as well as girls were guarded from vulgarity and their activities rightly directed, society would hold the same moral standard for men and women. The late Speaker Cannon held the same standard and the following story is pertinent. At a men's dinner where he was once toast-master, a certain congressman prefaced a vulgar story with the words, "As no ladies are present, I will tell the following story."

"Pardon me, you may omit that part of your remarks," interrupted Speaker Cannon, "tho no ladies are present, many gentlemen are."

Public sentiment always requires that the environment of the girl be more wholesome and refined than that of the boy. If boys are more susceptible, why are they not safeguarded? Will someone who is in the habit of ascribing native vulgarity to boys please answer this question?

Thoughtless, tho doubtless well-meaning people are constantly seeking to improve the environment of girls so as to keep their thoughts, feelings and conduct wholesome, sweet and refined, but they let boys grow up under debasing conditions and then lament over the fact that they are not naturally refined and scrupulous about their speech and manners. Many parents expend more time and money in getting nice clothes for a daughter than for a son and then they wonder why he is not so particular as she is about his appearance. The result of this general indifference to a boy's esthetic nature is, of course, that the boy, as a rule, is coarser in his thought, speech, and action than the girl. But is the difference due to sex or to the fact that we neglect the boy and permit him to look out for himself with the result that he is often subjected to vicious suggestion? It is a wonder that, take boys as they go, they are not worse than they are.

I sometimes wonder what the city child is able to show in the way of self-dependence and initiative when the inevitable day arrives that he must stand on his own feet. It seems to me that he is never left alone. In well-to-do families he usually passes from the teacher's hands directly into the hands of his governess or tutor, who instantly assumes the responsibility for his safety and well-being. He works and plays under supervision, and has no opportunity to develop initiative or a sense of responsibility. In the name of education we are crippling what we should cultivate. The best way to develop initiative is to let the child alone for at least a part of each day. I think it shows an almost insulting lack of faith in his intelligence, this constant attendance on him. Even if he does make a few blunders, he will be developing himself that way.

My husband and I were brought up in all the freedom of large spaces, and after a few years of New York apartment life, with summers in boarding houses, we realized that our boys were going to lose out on most of the joys of childhood unless something was done about it. So we bought for almost nothing a 100 acre valley, 2,000 feet up in the Catskills, and 500 feet above the nearest village—a real wilderness into which no self-respecting servant would dream of setting foot. There was a rough little cabin in it, which was quite adequate for a summer home. Our object was to have a place where the children could stretch their bodies and souls, and incidentally where the parents could also—where light and heat and water did not come by means of taps and buttons.

We had to do all the work ourselves and the boys, then 5 and 6, were expected from the beginning to do their share. They fetched the milk from the nearest farm, a half mile distant, realizing fully that if they did not get it there would not be any milk, a crisis which could not exist in town. We have most of our dinners outside over a camp fire, which, of course, the boys soon learned to make. They often serve us doubtful meals, over which they labor joyfully for hours beforehand. They have absolute freedom to wander over the mountains with only their dogs for protection. There are hours and hours when I have no idea where they are, and they come home with the most wonderful adventures to recount. For four months out of every year they live the life of the pioneer boy.

I think every city child should have some such summer experience if possible, where responsibilities can be given him which he may assume or not, but where he must take the consequences. The child brought up under artificial conditions necessarily prevailing in city life, or in the summer hotel, has no point of contact with the old, simple, universal forms of human living, from which all wholesome developments took their root.

From the instant a mother hears that first significant cry which proclaims to the world the birth of a new life, she is confronted by a problem which increases in complexity with the passing of the years.

If she is a busy mother, and most mothers are busy, she will soon realize that upon the early habits of her baby will depend her ability to fulfill her many duties. She can train the baby to be entirely dependent upon her during his waking hours, and thus let him become the spoiled child who later develops into a family nuisance, or she can begin even when he is in his tiny crib to sow the seed of self-reliance, which will make of him the responsible and desirable citizen. She would not be guilty of pulling up the sprouting plant to see if it was growing; why carry her baby about in her arms or hold him in her lap when he can kick and crow so much more freely in his own bed?

The baby who is bathed, fed, given his nap regularly, allowed freedom in which to grow and not hampered by too much attention will develop into a healthy, happy, helpful child and be a joy to his parents and a pleasure to their friends.

As baby's mind develops he will need diversion and amusement. For this purpose toys are useful which do not have sharp edges and which can be washed and kept sterile. A bell or rattle for the baby to kick may be hung from his crib or carriage, but it must be hung at an angle which will not produce eye-strain.

From earliest infancy the child displays a spirit of investigation which it is well always to gratify. If possible, never leave his questions unanswered. If you lack the information, say that you do not know but will find out and tell him; and keep your word. Few parents realize that they typify to the child the spirit of omniscience which God typifies to them, and that it behooves them constantly to strengthen such faith. The child who finds that he can depend upon what his parents tell him is less apt in his turn to deceive them, and the seed of mutual understanding and confidence is thus sown, to sprout and bloom for all time.

The spirit of investigation often leads children into the habit of touching every object they see. This is not always naughtiness and should not be so stigmatized. A baby's attention can be diverted from one object to another, while older children will desist from investigation as soon as their curiosity is satisfied. But if they are told unqualifiedly that a certain object must not be touched, they seem impelled by an irresistible force to handle that object in preference to all others. It is well to keep in mind the advantage to be gained by positive suggestion. Divert the child's mind by mentioning something which he may do, rather than strengthen his determination by a peremptory command as to what he may not do.

Thinking back over the past years I have been trying to formulate some of the practices that have helped me over the hard places, and offer the following to the mother who wishes to make of her children's early years a period that they and she will remember with great joy.

1. When it is necessary to restrain a child from doing something wrong or harmful, always suggest something else he may do. Never issue a don't without proposing a do.

2. In giving a child permission to play take care that his activities do not develop into license. For he will be happier if some limitations are imposed to test his powers and help him concentrate. For instance, if he is playing with blocks or cutting from paper, giving him permission to do anything he pleases often results in aimless or destructive activity. Some suggestion from the mother to make something—to furnish a house, for instance—stimulates and directs his mind, while leaving him free to express himself.

3. Before a command is given always consider whether it is going to raise an issue. If a child refuses to obey, do not always insist upon implicit obedience; your command may not have been an entirely wise one. Punish for disobedience, if necessary, but do not raise avoidable issues. "Breaking a child's will" is cruel and most harmful.

4. When a child is naughty always be sure that the cause is not a physical one, for fatigue and hunger come easily to little people. Many problems that are unsolvable before a meal are no longer problems afterward.

5. Try to follow your children's activities and to understand the instincts and inner laws from which they proceed. View what they do in the lights of your intelligence and of your spirit. Such a habit of watchfulness and care prevents nervous irritation and enables you to enter into and to encourage sympathetically activities which are pleasing.

6. Be consistent in what you approve and disapprove. Do not one day, because you are tired, reprove a child for something he had done and the next day ignore the same thing because you are rested.

7. Answer questions truthfully. A child's mind does not always crave details. Give him only broad statements. Build a strong foundation of truth, to which details may be added later. As regards the vital question of the origin of life be careful not to give the child more than he asks for. Do not force your buds to open too early. The life of flowers and birds is analogous to human life and will tell you how to answer this question.

8. Avoid useless negations. If there is no real reason why a child should have his requests denied, do not deny them.

9. In regard to children's interruptions, consider whether what they want you to do is not more important than the special activity you had planned for that moment. In the last analysis, why do we mothers exist at all if not to give of our best to our children and to meet their needs as they show themselves?

10. The care of a child's body is important, but it should not monopolize the mother's attention at the expense of mind and spirit.

11. Cultivate a sense of humor in yourself and in your child. It is wonderful how many trying situations may be relieved thru this means.

12. Show a child the same respect you would a grown person. What a child resents most in being struck is not the pain, but the insult to his pride.

13. Do not leave your children largely to the care of nurses, however conscientious or seemingly intelligent they may be. Nurses minister mostly to the physical needs of little children, and the time soon comes when they are no longer necessary for this purpose. Then it may be too late for the mother to build the bridge of sympathy between her children and herself. Moreover, it is in early years that the child is most impressionable and that a mother's influence may count for most.

14. Do not threaten. Make punishments slight, but see that they always follow the offense. Their effectiveness depends upon their inevitability, not on their severity. A child keeps his fingers from the flame because he knows it will always burn him.

15. A child that is occupied is always a good and happy child. For outdoors, try to have a sand box, a swing, a garden and garden tools, and let this be a spot where the children hear the word "don't" as seldom as possible. For indoors, provide modeling clay, paints, a soap bubble outfit, blocks, crayons, colored paper, blunt scissors, colored wooden beads, shoestrings for stringing and pegs for peg boards.

16. Since you are constantly supplying your child with mental and spiritual food see that your own mind and spirit are kept renewed and inspired by good books, fresh air, poetry, change of scene, stimulating companionship, good pictures and music.

A Valuable Help to the Study of the Sunday School Lessons

EDERSHEIM'S

BIBLE HISTORY

Weaves the Bible narrative into a continuous story, showing the connecting links, casting on the events the side lights of contemporaneous history, as brought out through modern research.

1. World Before Flood and History of Patriarchs.
2. The Exodus and Wanderings.
3. Israel Under Judah and the Judges.
4. Israel Under Samuel, Saul and David.
5. Israel and Judah from the Birth of Solomon to the Reign of Ahab.
6. Israel and Judah from Ahab to the Decline of the two Kingdoms.
7. Israel and Judah from the Decline to the Assyrian and Babylonian Captivity. Containing full Scripture References and Subject Indices to the whole series.

"There is no doubt that this author was qualified in a very remarkable way to prepare such a history as this ..... Dr. Edersheim's intimate familiarity with Jewish life and modes of thought, and his ability to say so well what he knows, enable him to paint with great vividness and distinctness the scenes he describes and the events which he narrates."
